MISS LAMCKEN'S OFERNIGHT OUT-

ING SPLITS A FLOCK. A Committee of Lutheran Ministers Reports That It Is Not Expedient or Edifying for Young Folks, Unchaperoned, to Go on a Bicycle Trip and Stay Over Night in a Hotel,

The annual conference of the German Evangelical Lutheran Churches of the New York district, which was opened on Tuesday morning in the Zion Church in McAdoo avenue, Jersey City. closed yesterday. An important feature of the session was the report of the committee to which was referred the trouble between the Choral Union of Zion Church and the pastor, the Rev. William Sanft. The trouble arose from a bicycle trip made last summer to Lake Hopatcong by Miss Anna Lamcken, a leading member of the Choral Union. Miss Lamcken was accompanied by another young woman and three young men, and the party remained in a hotel at Lake Hopatcong over night. Lamcken was a candidate for organist of the church. Pastor Sanft informed her that on account of the bicycle trip she could never be come organist. The Choral Union took sides with Miss Lamcken and resigned in a body Since that time the music in the church has been of an inferior character. The trouble was reef an inferior character. The trouble was referred to a committee, and this statement was given out yesterday by Pastor Sanft in the presence of several clergymen:

'At our conference held last fall in Brooklyn I propounded an ethical question, which was to be answered by a committee of five ministers. Be it understood that I raised the question and that there was no investigation of any kind, but simply a general ethical question to be answered. The committee did so without reflecting on the conditions existing in my congregation. I think no one can better judge whether I was right or wrong than the members of my congregation who are acquainted with every small incident attached to my case, and those members gave me a vote of confidence approving entirely of my action.

"Question—If in any congregation respectable members take offence at this occurrence, viz: two young ladies and three gentlemen staying away on a pleasure trip two nights in a public hotel (without chaperon). Are they justified in thinking it proper, according to Christian rules of good custom and behavior, especially if one of the young ladies in question is a prominent member of the Church who wishes to secure the position of organist?

"Answer—Although here in America a greater freedom in manners and customs is allowed than in Europe or civilized countries, and although it may be permitted, under certain circumstances, that young ladies and gentlemen, who have an unblemished character, make a trip with the parents knowledge and consent, even the staying away over night in a public botel, yet those members of a Christian congregation who intend to occupy a prominent position, as that of an organist, ought to avoid, under all circumstances, bad impressions caused by throwing aside good manners, and which will necessarily arise in all upright Christians.

"But it is only proper that young ladies in company with gentlemen should be accompanied by their mothers or elderly ladies. According to this it is fully justified, if respectable members take offence under such circumstances, because the strict good customs and manners of the civilized Christian world are not upheld, and the Scripture asset if. According to a correspondent who has been allowed access to the proofs, the secret influencing sex is mainly a question of sugar. Those desiring boys have to consider what kind of food is to be eaten to act on the mother so as to prevent the secretion of sugar. When no sugar is secreted an ovum will be developed which is qualified to become a male,

THE ROYAL ACADEMY. American Painters Dominate This Year's Ex

Special Cable Despatch to THE BUN. LONDON, April 27 .- A most cursory inspection of the Royal Academy press view, which began to-day, reveals the fact that the exhibit is don inated by American painters. Out of the 2,000 pictures on view barely a score are worthy of erious consideration, and of these the Ameri can painters J. S. Sargent, J. J. Shannon, and E. A. Abbey supply quite half. Never has Mr. Sargent effected a more triumphant display of his talents than in his series of eight men and women, who seem actually to speak to us from the canvas. One of his paintings especially, a portrait of the noted dealer Werthelmer, is ikely to be the talk of all artistic London. Next week Mr. Abbey will present still an other finely decorative Shakespearian subject, Cordella Taking Leave of Her Sisters." The painting is magnificent in color and is nobly omposed. It will undoubtedly be the most oteworthy subject picture of the exhibition. Mr. Shannon has four striking portraits.

Mr. George Henry Boughton has a most pleas ng design suggested by Tennyson's "Lady of Shalott. Mr. Francis Davis Millet shows a clever and pleasingly humorous picture entitled "Unconverted," representing a Puritan preaching to we laughing girls. Mr. Hitchcock's exhibit is a broadly painted riew of a Dutch tulip garden.

Of the English painters Mr. Alfred East shows two of the finest landscapes. William Quiller Orchardson's exhibit consists of several striking portraits. Among the foreign painters represented are Carolus Duran and Bouguereau, who send fine

Mr. Abbey's picture, "Cordelia," has been purchased for 3,000 guineas by Mr. McCulloch, who is the owner of Mr. Abbey's "Anne," which was the picture of the year in 1896.

There are now under indictment and awaiting trial in the United States Court here, upon a charge of filibustering, Emilio Nunez, Carlos Roloff, Joaquin Castillo, Enrique Trujillo, José J. Luis, Capt. John O'Brien, Mate Edward Murphy, Capt. John D. Hart, Capt. George W. Berry, James McAllister. and Frank Agramonte. In the indictments these persons are charged with having aided and abetted military expeditions against a foreign Government with which this country was at peace, but now that such peace no longer exists it is being urged by the friends of the indicted men that the indictments should be quashed and that their bail, which was furnished in cash, should be released. As each man was held under $2,500, the total amounts to $27,500, for which the Cuban Junta could doubt Calixto Garcia, who is now whipping the Spaniards in Cuba. The General was arraigned before Commissioner Shields in March, 1898, and released under $2,500 bail. He did not wait to see what the United States Grand Jury would do about his case, but histened to Cuba, where he has been making things unpleasant ever since for such Spaniards as he has encountered. The first of the filibustering expeditions in which the men under indictment are said to have been concerned was sent from here in 1896, and the last left on the steamer Tillie, which foundered off Harnegat on Jan. 23, two days out from this port. # Mme. Lankon's Concert.

This is the season of small concerts. The musical market is just now flooded with then Virtuosos of every instrument and singers of high and low degree all clamor to be heard, so that "matinees musicales," "recitais," and "soirces" swarm as thickly, in large and small halls, as bees in summer about a hive, last evening a concert was given in the Waldorf which was chiefly noticeable and interesting in bringing to light the untiring, energetic, and enthusiastic efforts of Mme. Lankon, whose papil, Mr. S. P. Veron, was the beneficiary and chief performer. Mr. Veron was assisted by Mile. Jeannette Tareb, soprano; Miss Hartman, pianist; Mr. Karger, violinist, and Mr. Emil Stine, accompanist. The programme was varied, and rendered in such a manner as to call forth many and sometimes vociferous plaudits from the friends of Mme. Lankon and her pupil. BOUND AND GAGGED HER. MRS. OUWITE FOUND GROANING IN HER HOUSE LAST EVENING.

She Says a Bark-Complexioned Stranger in s Light Overcont Entered Her Flat and Without Apparent Metire or Provocation Attacked Her-Police Investigating.

Mrs. Lizzie Guwitz, aged 22 years, the wife of William Guwits, a salesman, of 23 Bleecker street, Brooklyn, was found unconscious in her bedroom last night with her hands and feet tied and a gag in her mouth. The woman and her husband occupy a third flat. Guwitz has been out of employment for two weeks, and vesterday morning he left his flat earlier than usual to look for a job. Mrs. Guwitz was seen several times during the day by neighbors. At 7 P. M. a Mrs. Berger, who has a second flat, went up to Mrs. Guwitz's rooms to make a visit. She rapped on the kitchen door, and not recelving a reply, she listened. She heard groans and turned the door knob. The door yielded, and Mrs. Berger found the flat in darkness.

She called to Mrs. Guwitz and in reply heard only groans. She suspected something wrong and her screams brought other inmates of the house. The gas in the kitchen was then lighted, and Mrs. Guwitz was found in a bedre next to the kitchen lying on per back. Her feet were tightly fastened with a white handker chief, and her hands, which lay across her chest, were also tied with a handkerchief. Across the woman's mouth was another handkerchief tightly fastened at the back of the head. Mrs. Guwitz was in a stupor. When Surgeon Mucklow of St. Catharine's Hospital arrived at the fiat, he found Mrs. Guwitz in a state of coms. He revived her within ten minutes.

arrived at the flat, he found Mrs. Givwitz in a state of coma. He revived her within ten minutes.

When the woman was questioned by Detective Becker of the Ralph avenue station, who, meanwhile had appeared, she said that between 3 o'clock and 4 o'clock in the afternoon she was attacked by a dark-complexioned man who had a mustache and goatee.

"I was sitting at the kitchen table in my flat all alone" said Mrs. Guwitz, "when I heard a faint rap at the door. Before I could reply the door was opened, and the stranger walked in. He was about 32 years old and wore a light overcoat. He said he was looking for orders for crayon portraits, and told me he was in the employ of Young's picture house in New York. I told him that I didn't care to give an order. He turned and walked into the bedroom. Then I ordered him out of the flat, but he paid no heed to me, and I gos up to see where he was going. Again I ordered him out and stepped into the bedroom after him. Quick as a flash he eaught me around the neck and suffed a handkerchief into my mouth. I struggled, to free myself. The man scratched my face and tried to choke me. He tore my clothes. I remember falling but everything after that is a blank to me."

blank to me."
Mrs. Guwitz's face bore out her story. Her Mrs. Guwitz's face bore out her story. Her nair was dishevelled and her house dress almost torn from her. She told the pelice that she had never seen the man before and could not imagine what his object was in attacking her. While the pelice were in the flat Mrs. Guwitz's husband appeared. He was greatly affected at his wife's experience. After Mrs. Guwitz was attended by Surgeon Mucklow she was left in her flat.

Inquiry among inmates of the house failed to find any one who had seen a man such as Mrs. Gowitz described, and neither did any one hear the noise of a scuffle. Until late last night the police had not been able to locate the alleged assailant.

WATCH FAILURE IN BOSTON.

The E. Howard Clock and Watch Company Makes an Assignment.

Boston, April 27.-The E. Howard Clock and Watch Company, Samuel Little, President, has made an assignment for the benefit of creditors to F. E. Snow of Gaston & Snow, attorneys. Samuel Little and his son, Arthur Little, have made individual assignments, as they are both on the paper of the clock company for large amounts. Mr. Little is President of the West End Street Railway Company, the Boston Lead Manufacturing Company and the Rockland

The direct cause of the failure was the watch business. It has been unprofitable for many years, and the concern has lost a great deal of money in that line. The quick assets of the Howard Clock Company are unofficially estimated at $400,000, and its debts at $500,000. Most of the paper outstanding, estimated at $500,000, bears the name of Samuel Little, and a great deal of it the name of Arthur Little. Bradstreet's places the estimated pecuniary strength of the E. Howard Watch and Clock Company at $200,000 to $300,000. The company's debt is held almost entirely by the banks, and is well scattered. and is well scattered.
